The Planets Are Very, Very, Very Far Away

A Journey Through the Amazing Scale of the Solar System

MIKE VAGO

The solar system unfolds before your eyes in this cheeky, myth-busting book (grounded in real math)!

Quick: Picture the solar system. Do you see nine planets on tidy rings around the Sun? Then you have been lied to!

It's not without reason: We have to draw the solar system that way to fit it on a place mat, or a lunch box, or into an ordinary book. But that familiar diagram is wrong about almost everything—and so this is no ordinary book. Seven double-gatefold pages open out not once but twice, capturing our planetary neighbors at scale.

At a 100,000,000,000-to-1 scale, the Sun is about the size of a dime. And five feet away from the Sun, we find . . . Earth, the size of a pinhead. A hundred-billion-to-one scale is not nearly small enough to fit our solar system into a book (or onto a soccer field)! How small do we need to go?

“This short book uses multiple large pullout sections, six landscape pages wide, to illustrate the Solar System . . . a great way to show how vast and empty the Solar System is.”

—SCIENCE

“Conversational narration uses tongue-in-cheek humor to point out that the planets do not match the neat circular orbits that textbooks depict. Gatefolds, plus an accessible discussion of scale using the metric system, clarify cosmic distances. . . . Sure to leave audiences feeling incredulous—and incredibly small.”

“An excellent book. One that has a mission and 100% succeeds at completing it. If you're looking to inspire your children to the wonders of the Solar System, this is an excellent and innovative way to do so.”

Kids Cook Gluten-Free

Over 65 Fun and Easy Recipes for Young Gluten-Free Chefs

BY PETER BRONSKI, KELLI BRONSKI

A fun, foolproof guide to gluten-free cooking for the kid chef in your kitchen—from the authors of No Gluten, No Problem Pizza

Are you ready for the best gluten-free biscuits you've ever had? How about gluten-free mac and cheese? Or brownies? Kids Cook Gluten-Free teaches children to make all these and more. From crowd-pleasing favorites like Chocolate Chip Pancakes and Hamburger Sliders to more adventurous options like Crispy Dover Sole and Red Lentil Dal, kids will love trying something new.

Each recipe has kid-friendly instructions with a list of common kitchen terms and tools. Guides to gluten-free eating, safety tips, and basic techniques help young readers get comfortable in the kitchen. Kids can make delicious food with a parent or all by themselves. No matter what, it'll be a whole lot of fun—and taste great!

PETER BRONSKI is the coauthor of Artisanal Gluten-Free Cooking and Artisanal Gluten-Free Cupcakes and founder of the blog No Gluten, No Problem. Despite his celiac disease, he enjoys adventure sports, is a former Xterra off-road triathlon U.S. national championship competitor, and is currently an ultramarathoner.

KELLI BRONSKI is a graduate of Cornell University's prestigious School of Hotel Administration, a ten-plus year veteran of the hospitality and restaurant business, and a lifelong baker and cook.

AN AMAZON BEST BOOKS OF THE MONTH IN COOKBOOKS

"The Bronskis make a strong argument for family cooking as an opportunity to teach children about food, promote healthier choices and inspire them to try new things."

—THE OREGONIAN

"The Bronskis excel at developing kid-friendly, gluten-free recipes. . . . In a time when so many people are losing touch with their kitchens, I welcome Kelli and Peter's advice on empowering our children to take control of their health through cooking."

—LAURA B. RUSSELL, author of Brassicas and The Gluten-Free Asian Kitchen

"I wish Peter and Kelli would adopt me into their family! Their focus on using familiar, accessible ingredients and clever recipe twists always yields flavorful food the whole family will enjoy."

Maxine's Critters Get the Vaccine Jitters

A cheerful and encouraging story to soothe kids' vaccine fears

JAN ZAUZMER

ILLUSTRATED BY CORLETTE DOUGLAS

A shot can be a little frightening—but it's quick, as quick as lightning!

When Maxine tells her pets, "Let's get to the vet!," Scott does not want a shot. Jervis is nervous, Franky is cranky, Biffy is iffy, and Cary is wary.

Can Maxine help her critters get over their jitters?

Perfect for any child afraid of shots or needles, this rhyming book in free meter is a "must-read-aloud!" Spunky Maxine takes charge of her vaccine fears with a playful game of pretend: Her adorable stuffed animals are the patients, and Dad steps in as their veterinarian.

Just in time for the kids' COVID vaccine—and relevant to any pediatric shot—Maxine's Critters Get the Vaccine Jitters will delight children ages 5 and under who face this understandable fear. No need to be grouchy about this little ouchy!

"Great purpose, engaging colorful pictures, good use of introducing the topic with pretend play involving stuff animals and then bringing home how it applies to the child with her own visit."

—VIRAGOS READING ODYSSEY

"This rhyming story with brightly colored, eye-catching illustrations is sure to captivate young children. Maxine spends her morning getting her critters vaccinated before heading off for her own vaccinations —'It was a cinch, a super fast pinch!'"

—PHILADELPHIA CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

"A particularly timely story. . . creative and fun, and the pro-vaccine message is on point. . . children's books do some heavy lifting, and pandemic times call for as many careful explanations of what vaccines are and the important work they do to keep us all safe as we can get."

—CANNONBALL REVIEW

JAN ZAUZMER is also the author of If You Go with Your Goat to Vote. A graduate of Princeton University and Stanford Law School, Jan lives with her husband near Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where they raised their three children.

CORLETTE DOUGLAS loves creating whimsical, fun, and adventurous images of POC kids and silly animals. She knew from a very young age that all she ever wanted to do was draw, so she dedicated herself to getting better and better and building a unique style that delivers a blast of colors and fun chaos on every page. Corlette is a born-and-raised resident of Brooklyn, New York.

Some Days

A Tale of Love, Ice Cream, and My Mom's Chronic Illness

JULIE A. STAMM

ILLUSTRATED BY CHAMISA KELLOGG

Nothing can stop Wyatt and Rosie in this heartwarming tale about having a parent with a chronic illness

Even when Wyatt's mom isn't feeling her best, he still thinks she's a superhero! Rosie and Wyatt go on adventures every day: On sleepy days, they build a cozy pillow fort just for two. On wobbly days, Wyatt gets out Rosie's magical walking stick and they cast spells on his toys. And on one super-special day, the whole family heads to town for the big "funraiser"!

Warm and uplifting, Some Days is the perfect story to share with your child about life with multiple sclerosis—or any chronic illness. Although some days are fast and some are slow, Rosie and Wyatt fill each one with love, excitement, and fun . . . not to mention ice cream!

JULIE A. STAMM was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis (MS) in 2007.

Following her diagnosis, Julie has made it her mission to educate, advocate, and support others battling the disease, giving her the opportunity to work with physicians, patients, and foundations across the globe. She lives with her partner, son, and two pups in Brooklyn. CHAMISA KELLOGG is an illustrator based in Portland, Oregon. She has made work for children's books, brands, games, and animation. Chamisa enjoys creating art that celebrates compassion, hope, and connection.

My mom is super! But some days, she may not feel so super.
My mom has mupi...

mulitap...
multiple scalos...
M.S.

Every day, she uses her superpowers to battle her MS.

She says there are people all over the world who have chronic illnesses, just like her.

"A perfect and charming book [that] my own child has asked me to read again and again. . . [Offers] invaluable assurance to children that when mom is fragile with MS, time spent together is still perfect time. Even with imperfections."

—SELMA BLAIR, actress

"This beautiful picture book shares an affirming message that honestly and unapologetically reflects life with a parent who has a chronic illness. . . A loving, tender celebration of the mother-child bond."

—KIRKUS REVIEWS STARRED REVIEW

"I am always in awe of what mama bears around the world are capable of. Julie Stamm is an #MSWarrior who wrote a very important book . . . which teaches kids about living with chronic illness. We need more books like this, books that empower us all!"

—LYNDA CARTER, actress

"A great children's picture book for anyone trying to help kids understand what chronically ill parents go through on a daily basis."

—THE MIGHTY

"A wonderful tool to help parents educate their children about MS or any chronic illness."

—MS VIEWS & NEWS

"Julie is truly resilient and we admire her dedication to the MS Movement. She is a champion of our mission and empowers others to live their best lives."

—DANA MIELE, president of the National MS Society, Greater New York City and Long Island Chapter

If You Go with Your Goat to Vote

JAN ZAUZMER
ILLUSTRATED BY ANDREW ROBERTS

What happens when you go with your grown-up to vote?

If you are a kid, you may chew over the ballot.

If you are a bunny, you may hop to the polling place.

If you are a piglet, you may squeal with delight when you get a sticker.

And best of all, if you go with your grown-up to vote . . . you will grow up to vote yourself!

Lighthearted and colorful, If You Go with Your Goat to Vote shows little ones just what to expect on Election Day—and will inspire grown-ups to be model voters.

“Wonderful . . . Jan Zauzmer takes little ones through the different steps of the process, whether it’s a bunny and rabbit hopping to the polling station or the small fry and octopus sharing the experience of filling in the bubbles on the ballot, various animal babies and parents share in the experience of voting.”

—THE AMAZON BOOK REVIEW

“The perfect book to read to your kid, starring a kid.”

Hello Numbers! What Can You Do?

An Adventure Beyond Counting

EDMUND HARRISS AND HOUSTON HUGHES
ILLUSTRATED BY BRIAN REA

Learning meets wonder when you invite numbers to come play in your imagination!

First think of One peeking out from the night, like a point, or a dot, or a shimmering light

But when One finds a friend to run from or run to, then we can't call both "One"—that new One must be Two!

And should you want something to go in between, you'll need a new number, a number like Three.

*Four makes a square when it's standing around,
But what would you see if it flies off the ground?*

*And then when another new One comes to mind,
Yell out its name if you know it . . . it's Five!*

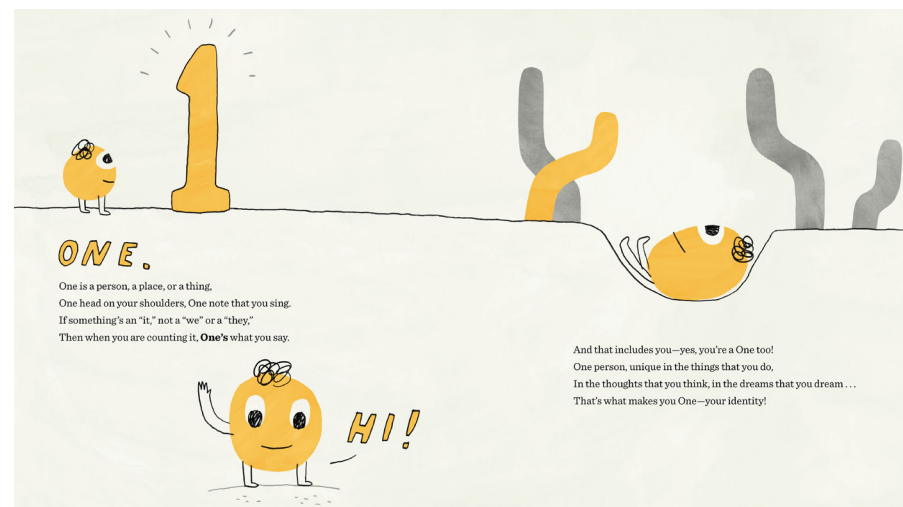

Hello Numbers! What Can You Do? is not like any other counting book. As each new One appears on the scene, the numbers' antics hint at ever-deeper math. Young readers ages 3 to 6 will not only count along but begin to wonder about symmetry, angles, shapes, and more.

Written by the mathematician-and-poet team
Edmund Harriss and Houston Hughes, and illustrated by longstanding New York Times artist Brian Rea, this rollicking, rhyming book will take you to a whole new world of numbers.

"An appealingly energetic visualization of numbers. . . . Rea's wide-eyed dots, each brightly color-coded to the number they represent, cavort in a grayscale universe, coming together and breaking apart while introducing concepts such as symmetry, angles, and shapes, and finally inviting children to keep counting as high as they can go."

—PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

EDMUND HARRISS is a mathematician, artist, and assistant professor at the University of Arkansas. He is the discoverer of the Harriss spiral and the creator of the construction toy Curvahedra. He is the coauthor and illustrator of two mathematical coloring books: Patterns of the Universe and Visions of the Universe. He lives in Fayetteville, Arkansas. HOUSTON HUGHES specializes in combining written and spoken word with other art forms, and he has produced hundreds of live shows in collaboration with musicians, chefs, scientists, mathematicians, painters, dancers, and vaudeville acts. He is working every day to be a better person, and he's doing it all in Fayetteville, Arkansas. BRIAN REA draws and paints for books, magazines, fashion, and film. He illustrates the longstanding New York Times column Modern Love, teaches at the ArtCenter College of Design, and exhibits his artwork worldwide. He lives in Los Angeles.

Adventures with Zap

107 Creative Prompts for Beginning Writers—for Earthlings Ages 4 and Up

DIANE LANDY

ILLUSTRATED BY ALLISON HERSHEY

Calling all Earth kids!

Meet Zap, a spunky blue alien from the planet Vox Nova. When a stowaway from Earth sneaks onto his spaceship, he makes lots of mistakes. Is the furry creature friendly? Or dangerous? Zots! Quick, grab a pencil to teach Zap about our world. Share memories, too, and make up adventures of your own.

Can't write yet? Zip-zapper-zot! Find a helper who can be your reading, writing robot!

Learning to write? Ka-zooks! No need to worry about spelling to be an author of this book!

Already a word wizard? You're on top of your game. Play with fun ways to edit and shoot for the stars!

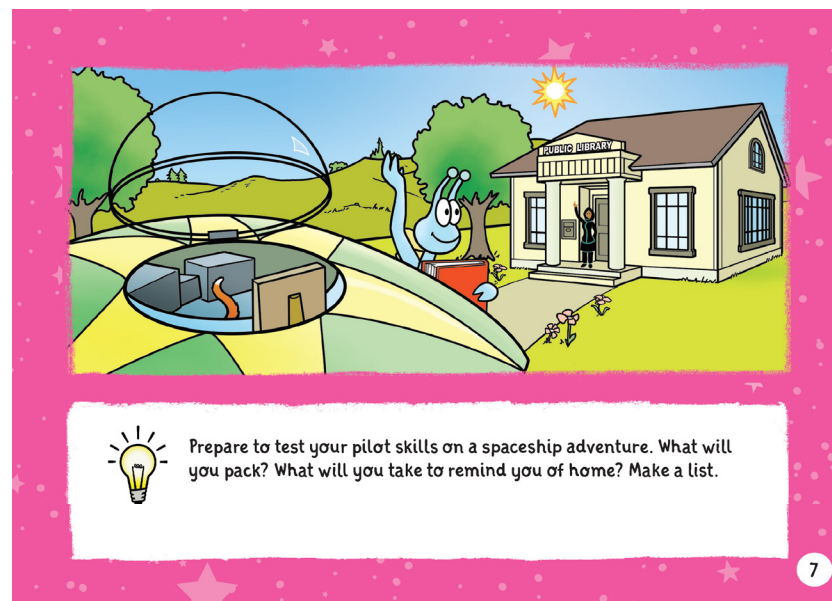

Writing coach Diane Landy brings years of elementary and preschool classroom experience to this one-of-a-kind book, in which each writing and drawing prompt is carefully crafted around a comic story. Kids will

- create characters, settings, and action scenes
- bring pictures to life with words
- brainstorm when stuck
- write thoughts and dialogue
- express feelings and wishes

Adventures with Zap introduces the magic of storytelling through playful writing practice. Children build skills and confidence while creating a precious keepsake.

DIANE LANDY is a writer and longtime volunteer for writing projects in elementary and preschool classrooms. She lives in Santa Cruz, California, with her husband. ALLISON HERSHEY is a professional illustrator whose art has appeared in science fiction magazines and adventure games, including Inherit the Earth and Halls of the Dead: Faery Tale Adventures II.

Prepare to test your pilot skills on a spaceship adventure. What will you pack? What will you take to remind you of home? Make a list.

Paint This Book!

Watercolor for the Artistically Undiscovered

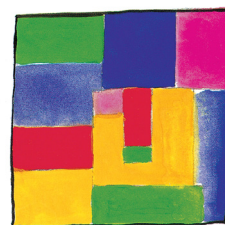

THACHER HURD AND JOHN CASSIDY

Put the brush in your hand. Stick it in water, then smush it around in one of the colors. Now take a deep breath and plop it down on the page . . . You're an artist.

Young or old, there is an artist in each of us. If yours is hiding (perhaps behind a shred of self-consciousness?), just remember: Art is personal expression. You have your talent. Nobody else has anything like it! If you are ready to discover (or rediscover) your genius, Paint This Book! is here to help. The paints, the brush, and the watercolor paper are all included—plus, irresistible encouragement and exercises.

- Work small: Quick, spontaneous strokes will happen more naturally.
- Trust your instincts: Watercolor can turn to mush with a lot of revision. You're better than you think you are!
- Choose your techniques: You'll learn about light and shadow, perspective, and more.

Sometimes a shimmer of color on the page can look even fruitier than a real bowl of fruit. Between these covers, there are no mistakes. Just add imagination (and water)!

Do colors seem to jump out at you? Do some colors come forward and some recede?

See how black livens up your colors

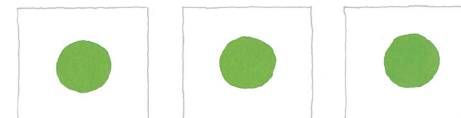

Hot + Cold colors. Look at the four colors here and decide for yourself which you think are hot and which are cold.

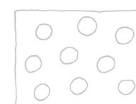

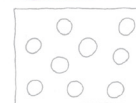

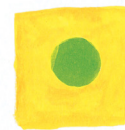

Color Combination Boxes

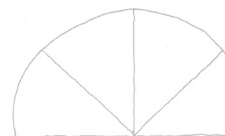

Instructions

Does the same green dot look different with different backgrounds?
